Unnecessary Misery. Probably as much misery comes from habitual constipation as from any derangement of the functions of the body, and it is difficult to cure, for the reason that no one likes to take the medicines usually prescribed. of the most complicated and wonderful thipgs in existence. It is easily put out of order.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a offer to whack up.

You had not heard, very likely, that I am not now a Communist. I used to be, I admit, and the society no doubt neglected to strike my name off the roll of active members. For off the roll of active members. For a number of years I was quite active as a Communist. I would have been more active, but I had conscientious scruples against being active in any thing then.

While you may be perfectly sincere in your belief that the great capitalists like Mr. Gould and Mr. Vanderbilt should divide with you wanter italists like Mr. Gould and Mr. Vanderbilt should divide with you, you will have great difficulty in making it pertectly clear to them. They will probably demur and delay, and hem and haw, and procrastinate, till finally they will get out of it in some way. Still, I do not wish to throw cold water on your enterprise. If the other capitalists look favorably on the plan, I will cheerfully co-operate with them. You go and see what you can do with Mr. Vanderbilt, and then come to me.

You go on at some length to tell me how the most of the wealth is in the hands of a few men, and then you attack those men and refer to them in a way that makes my blood run cold. You tell the millionaires of America to beware, for the hot breath of a bloody-handed Nemesis is already in the air.

You may say to Nemesis, if you please, that I have a double-barreled shotzun standing at the head of my shotgun standing at the head of my bed every night, and that I am in the Nemesis business. You also refer to the fact that the sleuth-hounds of the fact that the sleuth-hounds of eternal justice are camped on the trail of the pampered millionaire, and you ask us to avaunt. If you see the other sleuth-hounds of your society within a week or two, I wish you would say to them that at a regular meeting of the millionaires of the country, after the minutes of the previous meeting had been read and approved, we voted almost unanimously to discourage any sleuth-hound that we found camped on our trail after 10 o'clock p. m. Sleuth-hounds who want to ramble over our trails during office hours may do so with the utmost impunity, but after ten o'clock we want to use our trails for other purposes. No man wants to go to the great expense of maintaining a trail winter and summer and then leave it out nights for other people to use and return it when they get ready.

ple to use and return it when they get ready.

I do not censure you, however. If you could convince everyone of the utility of Communism it would certainly be a great boon to you. To those who are now engaged in feeding themselves with flat beer out of a tomato-can such a change as you suggest would fall like a, ray of sunshine in a rat hole, but, alas! it may never be. I tried it awhile, but my efforts were futile. The effect of my efforts were futile. The effect of my great struggle seemed to be that men's heart grew more and more stony, and my pantaloons got thinner and thinner on the seat till it and thinner on the seat till it seemed to me that the world never was so cold Then I made some experiments in manual labor. As I began to work harder and sit down less I found that the world was not so cold. It was only when I sat down a long time that I felt how cold and rough the world really was.

Perhaps it is so with you. Sedentary habits and stale beer are apt to make us morbid. Sitting on the stone door-sills of hallways and public buildings during cold weather is apt

Of course am I willing to put my money into a common fund if I can be convinced that it is best. I was an inside passenger on a Leadville coach some years ago when a few of your friends suggested that we all put our money into a common fund, and I was almost the first one to see that they want right. They want was I was almost the first one to see that they ware right. They went away into the mountains to apportion the money they got from our party, but I never got my dividend. Probably they lost my Postoffice address.—[Bill Nye in N. Y. Mercury.

Credulity and Reasoning

Whatever conclusion we adopt respecting this matter, the significant fact remains that consciousness is certain to appear in connection with nerve-matter; sooner or later the question of a strictly materialistic interpretation must be faced. After ascertaining the present state of the case with regard to the localizations of functions in the cerebrum, the induction must be drawn as to the nature of the relation between nerve-matter and consciousness. Grant that this induction shall be more or less a speculation, we need, I think, to remember that all reasoning is speculative, from the nature of the case speculative, and that the only distinction between credulity and reasoning is this, that crudulity is both beyond the facts and contrary to the facts, while reasoning is beyond the facts but according to the lacts.—[Prof. W. R. Bezedict in Popular Science Monthly for April.

Painless Regulation.

Painless Regulation. It is no longer a question of doubt—al-hough the contrary was once believed that medicines which produce violent effects are unsuited to other than desperate emergencies. In other words, that superpotent remedies are calculated to weaken and injure the system rather than reform its irregularities. Among medicines of debilitating effect are eatherties and cholagogues which copiously and abunptly evacuate the bowels. Because it does not do this, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is preferable to the derenching class of purratives. Paipless in its effects, it is sufficiently active to remedy chronic constipation. It relieves by invigorating the intestines, and enables, not forces, them to perform the duty imposed upon them by nature. Sympathy for the oppressed is an instinct of human nature. Of all humanpromptings this sympathy is the noblest, and in no American dies it exist to a greater degree than in Blaine. Blaine's friendship for Ireland and the Irish people may be attributed to selfish motives, but it exists; it is manifest never the occasion presents itself, and we think promptd by purest motives. As is the Englishman Gladstone in England so is the American Blaine in America the champion o. the Irish cause. No other than Gladstone in England or Blaine in America could do so much to elicit for Ireland Interest among the Anglo-Saxon speaking peoples as these two greatest of modern statesmen. Blaine's advocacy of the Irish cause is applauded at least by 4,500,000 of Irishmen who are his fellow citizens; it is tacitly approve i in this country by other millions of English, Puritan and other extraction; it should be condemned by none who are lovers of justice and freedom. The reception accorded to Blaine in his present tour through Ireland is no

Some of the California papers continue to make a specialty of the Morrow bribery case. A newspaper as the conservator of morals should condemn crime; should hunt down rascality whether in low or high estate; should at all times keep a vigil over the public weal. But one sickens to read the slush about Morrow now daily dished up in the columns of the papers referred to. They know too much, as most frequently does he who first cries out stop thief!"

They know just what he has done, how and by what court he should be tried; where he should be tried; whether or not his attorney should interpose a legal objection to the indictment found, and, strange to say, what the penalty of his alleged crime should be. If he were anything else but a supposed boodler with a long sack these selfconstituted tribunals would perhaps have no object in knowing so much of the accused as they now claim to know. Morrow may, or may not, be guilty; whatever he merits, surely it is not that of being mobbed by the newspapers; he should have at least one chance for his life in the courts, the only tribunal authorized by law to convict for crime and to impose a penalty on the criminal.

Members of the Salvation Army are found in nearly every town of any size from Maine to California. The other evening a band of these so-called soldiers of Christ came very nearly getting into the hands of a mob of 2,000 in the "City of Lost Angels" in Southern California. If these Salvationists are followers of the meek and lowly Jesus we fall to understand why they get no recognition whatever from the Orthodox churches.

Pennsylvania that gave Blaine 80,000 majority in the last Presidential election in its Republican State Convention again endorses the Maine statesman, this time as the National Republican standard bearer in 1888. It is believed that at the proper time a solid West se again endorse the great chieftain.

A News Chatsworth special says: The Coroner's Jury agreed on a verdict regarding the big wreck this morning which holds Timothy Coughmorning which holds Timothy Cough-lin, section foreman, to appear before the Grand Jury, and negatively ex-onorates the ratiroad Company. The verdict simply says the failure to pa-troi the track for six hours before the train came, and the babit of burning grass close to the track, is a subject for criticism. The News' special northern courier has learned conclusively that the White River and Ute Indians have sent runners to the Uncompangre sent runners to the Uncompabgre camp of the Blackfeet, Sioux, Crow and other tribes in Colorado, Wyoming, Montana and Idaho for aid. Colorow knows that he must fight, and this will be the decisive battle, and that it will end the Indian question forever. He has determined, it is said, to have other tribes brought into the present difficulties, and while the outbreak has been local so far, he wants to make it a national one. The runners are reported to have started for the camps of other tribes from Yellow Jacket Pass on Sunday night. Duncan Blair, a white renchman who married a Ute squaw, and who is said to be popular with the Utes, is alleged to have stated this to be a fact.

The Labor Convention

SYRACUSE, August 18. When the United Labor Convention reassembled this morning the Committee on Credentials made its report. The committee had been in session all night and had a lively time. In almost all cases they reported in favor of the aitting delegates. This shows that the Socialist element received but little attention from the Committee.

The Socialist members of the committee submitted a long minority report in favor of seating the contesting delegates. A lively debate followed, and although speeches were limited to five minutes each, the matter had not been settled by 1 o'clock, at which time the convention took a recess until 3 P. We were frequently obliged to get up in the night and rub him with sods in water, strong liniments, etc. Finally, we called other physicians, until no less than six had attempted to cure him, all alike fai ling, and the child steadily getting worse and worse, until about the 20th of last July, when we began to give him Cuticu-a Resolvent internally, and the Cuticural Scar externally, and by the last of August he was so nearly well that we gave him only one dose of the RESOLVENT about every second day for about ten days longer, and he has never been troubled since with the horrible maindy. INDIAN EDUCATION. Dave Gibson at Grand Junetion Indian Dave Gibson, a boy for-may of the Indian school at Pyra-mic Reservation, has written an interesting letter to the GAZETTE. Of course the most important thing in his letter is that he heap likes GAZETTE, and says: "Send news-GAZETTE, and says: "Send newspaper, O glad see newspaper." But he says other things. Says he is trying to study hard, reads in Bib e and is a good boy. Also, occasionally he goes out fishing and deer hunting, and the people are pretty good to him. He gets "sorry lonesome" sometimes because he has to stay away from his father and mother for three years and wants the Indian school at Carson to start pretty soon. Dave, while in the Reservation school here, showed a great aptitude for music, learning to play many pieces on the organ without the aid of a teacher. If the improvement made by Dave be indicative of what the others are doing the 21 Indian boys recently sent to Grand Junction school from this State are doing wel. this State are doing wel ..

A Moutana Bonanza. They have a baby bonanza up near Helena, Montana, and in time may find the daddy. The group of mines containing the "baby" has just been bought by ex-Governor Hauser, Senators West and Cameron, Plumb and Farwell, Frederick Billings, the Seligman's of New York, and other New York capitalists for $600,000. The Helena Independent says:

Independent says:

"The property is one of the memoth mining propositions of the world. The lead extends at least 12,000 feet up the mountain and is in places 100 feet wide. A conservative expert's report said that 20,000,000 tons of ore could be exposed by one tunnel. The ore is mostly base gold-bearing, though the surface has long been worked for free-milling purposes. Below water level it is largely on iron pyrites. The ore assays $25 and upwards, so far as exposed. It is proposed to erect an immense concentrator on the ground and ship the conposed to erect an immense concentra-tor on the ground and ship the con-centrates to some convenient smelter. It is calculated that no ordinary plant could possibly exhaust the ore body during the life of any person now liv-ing. The proposition has been under consideration months past and the property has been most carefully ex-amined by the best experts in the country. Their reports are said to be sufficient to sell the property for $1,000,000, without another blow being struck upon it."

A Good Combination.

The Reno Stockman and RENO WEEKLY GAZELTE have been merged into a twelve-page paper, under the ownership of Messrs. Preble & Young. J. R. Bloor, who has been part owner in and business manager of The Stockman, will have an interest in THE GAZETTE and will be business manager of both the DAILY GAZETTE and THE WEEKLY GAZETTE and STOCK. MAN. This is a good consolidation and one that will be of great advan-tage to both papers, while at the same time it will prove very satisfactory to all subscribers.

There is quite a boom in Washoo City. There are those among us who remember when Washoe was the remember when Washoe was the liveliest camp in the State, and that when the State was noted for its lively camps. The clatter of the many stamps in its quartz mills was unceasing, the lusty "Whoa haw!" of its teamster, and the tink-ling of the mechanic's hammer, formed a medley which has long since been forgotten by the present sleepy denizes of the hamlet.

While the price of beef is not so high as it has been, he thinks it a good paying business when cattle will sell at six cents per pound.

OFFICE OF C. M. FASSETT, DRUGGIST AND ASSATER, RENO, NEV., June 28, 1887. T. K. HYMERS, ESQ., CHAIRMAN BOARD COUNTY COMMISSIONERS—DEAR SIR: T. K. HYMERS, ESQ., CHAIRMAN BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS—DEAR SIR: In accordance with your request I have made examinations of three samples of water furnished by you, with special reference to such impurities as would render it unfit for domestic use, and beg leave to present the following report:

Sample No. I was taken from the river about ten miles above town, at the point where the Highland ditch takes it supply; sample No. I was taken from the main reservoir, four feet from the surface, near where the water used in the town is taken; sample No. 3 was taken from the Highland ditch just before it empties into the main reservoir. The following is a tabulated statement of the results of the tests made:

The ammonia found indicates the proportion of contamination from animal sources, such as sewage, decomposing animal matter, etc., and in Nos. I and 8 is in as small proportion as can be expected in a stream which flows through as many towns as the Truckee; while in No. 2 it is in three times the quantity as in the chiers, and above the limit of safety—dixed by most authorities at .08 to .12 parts free ammonia, and .18 to .29 parts albumenoid ammonia per million of water.

The second table shows the results obtained from careful evaporation of the water; drying and ignition of the residue in platinum crucibles, and proves that the water of the Truckee is as free from deleterious matters, prejudicial to health, as that supplied to almost any city of the Union. Inion.

Impurities resulting from sawdust in he river would be shown in the table under the head of "organic solids," but he results obtained show that the mount of such matter is very small; nuch less, indeed, than is contained in many natural springs, some of which arry five grains or more of organic material to the gallon just where they bubble rom the earth.

These various results show:
First—That the water supplied to the town through the main reservoir is not sufficiently pure to be used for domestic purposes with safety.
Secondly—That the water in the river is reasonably pure and wholesome, and Thirdiy—That the water supplied to the town receives the greater part of its impurities in the main reservoir and its approaches.

As applicable to the sawdust question, I quote the following extract from an article on water by Professor S. P. Sadtler, Ph. D., Professor of Chemistry in the University of Pennsylvania, etc., etc.: "Organic matter may be derived from a vegetable source, such as leaf mould, and the decomposition products of wood, in which case it is practically harmless, or it may be derived from animal sources, in which case it almost always causes a serious impurity."

IR. FLINT'S HEART REMED

One fact or principle clearly understood, and made a part of the working philosophy of life, is better than yards of facts and principles rolled glibly and superficially off the tongue as the prestidigitators pull the tape apparently from their miraculous mouths. I think close observation and increasing study will convince any unprejudiced mind that the rote-system almost inevitably neglects the substance, and gives the impression that the symbol is the vital thing. There is frequently no connection between reciting well and understanding well. Teaching which begins with memorising rules is the cart before the horse method. It has been well said that men did not wait until Aristotle constructed his logic to reason. The reasoning came first, and then the treatise on logic. Operations do not grow out of rules. Rules are the formulating or the results of operations. They do not educate the understanding. They are simply the outcome of the exercise of an edurated understanding. But there is one branch of knowledge in which memory may rightly lead the understanding. I refer to the field of elevating and inspiring literature. To give the mind literary food a little ahead of it, to familiarize it with the heat thought in the best possible English, to connect it with the great sayings from great authors long before it is ready to read these authors as a whole, is, I believe, the highest wisdom. The child as well as the adult needs the inspiration of the ideal. It is not to find that in arithmetic. It is not to find the recorded sentiments of the great and good. Habit is a great power. To be born and brought up in the company of people who talk well is itself an education. So the company of people who talk well is itself an education of the interest of the school to lead the child into the field of wholesome, refining and inspiring reading. If this criticism is a just on liquor of any kind whatever and was never drunk in his life.

He gave the reporter a few exhibitions of his strength. Taking a piece of iron, which was afterward found to weigh forty-three pounds, Bernhardt held it horizontally at arm's length for several minutes. He then raised a huge piece of block iron from the ground and placed it upon the scales. It pulled 864 pounds. Taking a piece of bar iron two inches wide and one inch thick and placing it against his knees, he bent it double easily. He took hold of a forty-two gallon barrel of water, and, balancing himself against a post, he went through the motion of drinking out of the bung-hole. He took a piece of seasoned oak, about the size of a wagon-spoke and broke it with his hands. He did various other wonderful 'things which demonstrated the possession of most extraordinary strength.

Bernhardt says he was never in the prize-ring, but says he is not afraid to meet John L. Sullivan or any other man. He professes to be able to fell an ox with his bare fist, and often killed hogs in that manner while employed in a Chicago porkpacking establishment. His hands are as hard as wood, and a stroke from one of them would not differ from a stroke of a mallet.—[Louis-ville Evening Post.

The tropic countries which England conquers seem to appeal in no way to her imagination. One does not find them in her poems or romances; her writers appear to be content with endless elaboration of her own scenes and people; her homely lives are sweeter to her than those fierce passions and stolid calms, those agonized loves and stormy hates, her own fair and peaceful land with its dasies and buttercups, their natural background rather than those sun-tortured wastes, of riots of vegetation, with their lotus blooms and acres of heliotrope. True, in the days of Moore and Byron a sort of anglicised Orientalism was in fashion, but the literature as a whole has showed no marked influence of her long familiarity with Eastern lands.
